MONTHLY REAL ESTATE REPORT // MARCH 2021

JOHN AND JANE SMITH

WHAT DOES RECORD-LOW HOUSING MEAN FOR YOU

The real estate market is expected to do very well in 2021, with mortgage rates that are hovering at historic lows and forecasted by experts to remain favorable throughout the year. One challenge to the housing industry, however, is the lack of homes available for sale today. Last week, the National Association of Realtors (NAR) released their Existing Home Sales Report, which shows that the inventory of homes for sale is currently at an all-time low.

MONTHS INVENTORY OF HOMES FOR SALE

“Total housing inventory at the end of December totaled 1.07 million units, down 16.4% from November and down 23% from one year ago (1.39 million). Unsold inventory sits at an all-time low 19-month supply at the current sales pace, down from 2.3 months in November and down from the 3.0-month figure recorded in December 2019.” – NAR

Joe and Jane,

The housing market is expected to remain strong throughout 2021. Know what that means for you, whether you’re buying, selling, or doing both. Give us call today to discuss your real estate goals and how we can help you navigate the current market to help you get there.

Join your neighbors in watching one of the best local mixologists show you how to make a few fun cocktail options.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN FOR YOU?

IF YOU’RE A BUYER

Be patient during your home search. It may take time to find a home you love. Once you do, however, be ready to move forward quickly. Get pre-approved for a mortgage, be prepared to make a competitive offer from the start, and know that a shortage in inventory could mean you’ll enter a bidding war. Calculate just how far you’re willing to go to secure a home and lean on your real estate professional as an expert guide along the way.

IF YOU’RE A SELLER

Realize that, in some ways, you’re in the driver’s seat. When there’s a shortage of an item at the same time there’s a strong demand for it, the seller is in a good position to negotiate the best possible terms. Whether it’s the price, moving date, possible repairs, or anything else, you’ll most likely be able to request more from a potential purchaser at a time like this – especially if you have multiple interested buyers. While you generally have the upper hand in this situation, it’s good to keep in mind not to be unreasonable, as presenting too high of demands can also push away a potential buyer.

WELCOME TO THE NEWEST MEMBERS OF THE STYRING TEAM

We’re happy to announce our recent additions to the team, Steven Harman and Yee Vong.

Steven is our newest Realtor® to join the Styring team. A former tour helicopter pilot based out of Honolulu, he has a unique familiarity with the beautiful island of O’ahu. Steven is no stranger to serving people who are in need and brings a high level of vigor, integrity and work ethic to his work in real estate, educating his clients on their options in a sometimes complex housing landscape.

Yee Vong joins us as our new executive assistant. An O’ahu native, Yee combines years of experience managing high-stakes events and services with her special passion for Hawaii real estate. Yee applies her experience towards keeping every Styring Team transaction on-track and successful.
