

HOW TO BUY A HOME BEFORE IT'S PENDING THE WINNING TEAM

Low housing Inventory is problematic

Many home buyers today are literally being left out in the cold because they can't seem to be able to find the home they want or worse yet, once they find a home they like, they either find it too late or they end up losing it to another home buyer. The low inventory in the housing market seems to make matters worse. If you want to get into the right home quickly and without spending more money than necessary, then you need Team Burress to represent you.

Master Negotiator

Bill Burress is the lead realtor on Team Burress and he has been negotiating contracts since 1980. He has a self proclaimed "Black Belt" in negotiations and his batting average with his home buying clients is 1000 in finding them the right home and sealing the deal. He is very successful at negotiating winning purchase offers for his buyers when in multiple offers. He is highly skilled and has completed hundreds of transactions and is very well respected in the real estate industry.

Proven Negotiation Systems

Team Burress has developed some of the most successful negotiating strategies and systems that flat out beat the competition. There have been instances of Team Burress bringing the winning offer when competing against over ten other offers on the same home listing.

Off Market Properties

Team Burress also can find off market properties for their home buyers. These are properties that aren't advertised and have highly motivated sellers. Team Burress typically negotiates these transactions with considerable savings for the home buyers.
