YOUR GUIDE TO THE HOTTEST EXTERIOR, KITCHEN & BATHROOM DESIGNS

STYLE 1: RUSTIC MODERN EXTERIORS

STYLE 2: EARTHY NEUTRAL MIXED-MATERIAL EXTERIORS

STYLE 3: WARM WOOD & STONE KITCHENS

STYLE 4: PATTERNED TILE & TEXTURED KITCHENS

STYLE 5: BIOPHILIC ORGANIC MODERN KITCHENS

STYLE 6: SPA-LIKE CURVED BATHROOMS

STYLE 1: RUSTIC MODERN EXTERIORS

Why it's the absolute best right now: This is the hottest exterior trend for 2026 — calm, approachable, and exploding in popularity (think evolved Fixer Upper vibes). It blends warm wood siding, stone accents, and clean modern lines for unbeatable curb appeal that feels timeless yet fresh.

Homeowners love it because it boosts resale instantly, looks incredible in Colorado's landscapes, and creates that inviting "I want to live here" feeling without looking dated.

Key features to steal: Deep wood tones, metal roofing, large windows, and natural landscaping.

HOME EXTERIOR

Why it's the absolute best right now: Stark white exteriors are out; warm taupes, mushrooms, beiges, and layered stone/wood/siding combos are in. Realtors report this style dramatically increases curb appeal and resale value because it feels personal, sustainable, and high-end. It adds depth and character that single-material homes can't match — perfect for today's buyers who want homes that feel grounded and welcoming.

Key features to steal: Mixed stone and wood, earthy paint palettes, oversized windows, and thoughtful landscaping.

STYLE 2: EARTHY NEUTRAL MIXED-MATERIAL EXTERIORS

STYLE 3: WARM WOOD & STONE KITCHENS

Why it's the absolute best right now: The cold all-white kitchen era is officially over. White oak, walnut, and rich wood tones paired with stone counters and subtle lighting are dominating 2026 because they feel warm, inviting, and luxurious. Designers and realtors agree: these kitchens increase home value more than any other update — buyers respond to the natural materials and layered textures that make the space feel like the heart of the home.

Key features to steal: Flat-panel or Shaker wood cabinets, warm neutrals, under-cabinet lighting, and mixed stone accents.

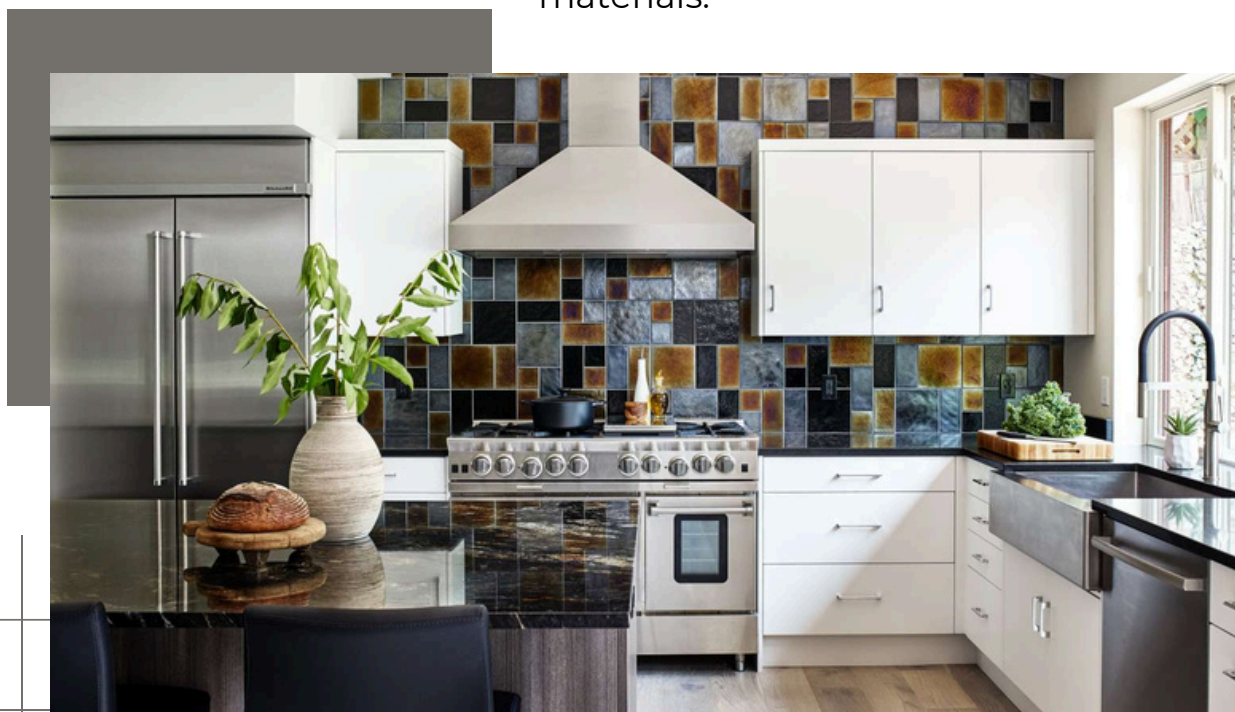

STYLE 4: PATTERNED TILE & TEXTURED KITCHENS

Why it's the absolute best right now:

Tile is having a major artistic moment — tumbled limestone, mixed-stone mosaics, and bold patterned floors/backsplashes bring movement, story, and soul to kitchens. Experts predict this will define 2026 kitchens because it replaces boring subway tile with personality and artistry. It's practical, durable, and makes every meal feel special — a huge win for resale and daily enjoyment.

Key features to steal: Statement mosaic or checkerboard tile, textured stone floors, and layered natural materials.

STYLE 5: BIOPHILIC ORGANIC MODERN KITCHENS

Key features to steal:

Abundant greenery, skylights, natural wood accents, and seamless indoor-outdoor flow.

Why it's the absolute best right now:

Bringing the outdoors in is one of the biggest wellness-driven trends for 2026. Natural light, plants, wood, stone, and organic shapes create calm, healthy spaces that buyers crave. It's not just pretty — it boosts mood and home value by making kitchens feel like an extension of nature. Designers call this the future of livable luxury.

HOME INTERIOR

Why it's the absolute best right now:

Bathrooms are no longer just functional — they're private sanctuaries. Curved showers, freestanding tubs, arched details, earthy palettes, and natural stone create a calming spa experience at home. This trend is surging because homeowners (and buyers) want wellness-focused spaces with texture, mixed metals, and soft organic lines. It turns the most-used room into a daily retreat and adds serious luxury appeal for resale.

Key features to steal: Curved showers, freestanding tubs, bold tile, warm neutrals, and layered lighting.
